ROYAL PORCELLAIN MANUFACTORY (KPM) BERLIN 2004 - A hotel and office building with a 60-metre-high tower marks the eastern entrance of the newly designed KPM quarter, at the heart of which the traditional production facilities of the porcelain manufactory can be found. This anchors the entire space into the urban development of the area along the east-west axis. A seven-storey building base with a hotel complements the development along Straße des 17. Juni.
